

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Part I: Developments in Rights

1. Investigative interviewing and human rights in the war on terrorism, Tom Williamson
2. Al-Qaeda-related subjects: a law enforcement perspective, Michael G. Gelles, Robert McFadden, Randy Borum and Bryan Vossekuil
3. American interrogation methods in the war on terror, David Rose
4. The interrogation of terrorist suspects: the banality of torture, John J. Pearse

Part II: Developments in Research

5. The psychology of rapport: five basic rules, Michel St-Yves
6. Confessions by sex offenders, Michel St-Yves
7. The psychology of interrogations and confessions, Gisli H. Gudjonsson
8. Towards greater professionalism: minimizing miscarriages of justice, Tom Williamson
9. Will it all end in tiers? Police interviews with suspects in Britain, Andrew Griffiths and Becky Milne
10. The Reid Technique of interviewing and interrogation, Joseph P. Buckley
11. A critical appraisal of the Reid Technique, Saul M. Kassin
12. Investigative interviewing and the detection of deception, Mark G. Frank, John D. Yarborough and Paul Ekman

Part III: Developments in Regulation

13. Recovered memories, James Ost
14. Investigative interviewing: suspects' and victims' rights in balance, Robert Roy
15. Regulating police interrogation, David Dixon
16. Conclusion, Tom Williamson